

WE NOMINATE

George Frost Kennan, a "Princeton institution" and probably this country's most respected career diplomat, who once again has commanded round-the-world attention with the publication of a "suddenly and unexpectedly timely" volume. The 64-year old diplomat-scholar, a member of the Institute for Advanced Study for some 16 years, is the author of "From Prague After Munich: Diplomatic Papers, 1938-1940," a collection of reports filed from Prague nearly 30 years ago which supplement Kennan's splendid "Memoirs, 1925-1950" and in a very real sense provide essential source material for a "proper understanding" of the tragic, puzzling present in Czechoslovakia.

The architect (as the heralded "Mister X" of two decades ago) of the Truman Administration's policy of containment for halting the expansion of the Soviet Union, and an influential voice in shaping American foreign policy in post-World War II years, Kennan since his expulsion in 1952 as American Ambassador to Russia — for allegedly "slandering" the Soviet Union — has been headquartered in Princeton. His years of teaching and research have been highlighted by a series of noteworthy contributions to historical scholarship, including his prize-winning books on Soviet-American relations.

"Articulate forthrightness" is characteristic of Kennan's approach to world affairs. Some 15 years ago, here in the University's Alexander Hall, he stirred lecture audiences by urging them to recognize "the full solemnity of our obligation as Americans in the 20th century." Six years later, shortly before his appointment as President Kennedy's Ambassador to Yugoslavia was front-paged, he didn't hesitate to lash out at Moscow for imprisoning literary collaborators of novelist Boris Pasternak, declaring the sadness of those "who have hoped and worked for the moderation of the political differences that have so tragically divided Russia from the Western World."

Kennan, Eastman Visiting Professor at Oxford University in 1957-58 and a former teacher in the University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, entered the Foreign Service upon completing his Princeton undergraduate studies in 1925. Early in his career, while assignments carried him to Switzerland, Germany, Czechoslovakia and the Baltic States, he voluntarily "majored" in Russian and, in 1933, when America resumed diplomatic relations with Russia, accompanied William C. Bullitt to Moscow.

One of the first American statesmen to speak Russian fluently, Kennan has supplemented his years of firsthand experience with quiet meditation and intensive historical research. The insights he initially gained as head of the State Department's Policy Planning Staff in the 1950's, before he occupied the U.S. Embassy in the shadows of the Kremlin, have been sharpened by his studies. The implications of his brilliant "Russia Leaves the War" (World War I), which brought him a Pulitzer Prize in 1957, are manifest: The Russian question currently harassing the modern world stretches back to 1917, not to the fall of 1945 when all seemed bright in a world momentarily at peace.

For understanding that in statesmanship "it is only right principles, consistently applied — not the gift of prophecy or the pride of insight — that achieve the best results," for his capacities for grasping the problems of emergent and restless nations; for strengthening hopes that administrations in Washington will continue to reach for "new frontiers," he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

They Were in Prague When The Russians Came

Dr. John C. Maxwell

Dr. Erling Dorf

Dr. Hollis D. Hedberg

This Is Princeton

- IN PRAGUE
It Was Like This. "Tell everyone outside what has happened to us," was the farewell given in Prague to Dr. John C. Maxwell as he parted from a fellow geologist, a Czechoslovak who had participated in an international congress of geologists held in Prague.
Three geologists from Princeton University were in Prague for the congress when the Russians entered the city on Wednesday, August 21. They were Dr. Maxwell; Dr. Erling Dorf, whose wife was with him; and Dr. Hollis D. Hedberg, who was accompanied by his wife and two children.
The Hedberg family is now back in the United States. Dr. Maxwell and the Dorfs are expected shortly.

With 1,400 other non-Czechs, Dr. Maxwell left Prague last Friday night on a long train for the long journey to Frankfurt. When he arrived, at 4 a.m., Princeton time, he telephoned his wife to tell her he was safe, and then he wrote his experiences to her in a letter.

Jets Zoom In. At 2 a.m. that Tuesday morning, he wrote, he was almost jolted out of bed by a diving jet. From then until dawn, wave after wave of planes roared over the city. "There was no doubt about what had happened," Dr. Maxwell wrote.

When he went down to breakfast the next morning, he found the hotel maids wringing their hands in anguish over the occupation. The hotel was on one of the main streets of Prague, near Wenceslas Square.

Dr. Maxwell found the street lined with tanks and troop carriers, and he saw two tanks set ablaze by young students who ripped into the auxiliary gas tanks and ignited the fuel. "They were the coolest and bravest people," he wrote. He saw some of them talking with Russian soldiers, and he told his wife how remarkably restrained the students were as they questioned the soldiers about their reasons for being there. He wrote that the Russian soldiers, themselves very young, seemed confused and even contrite.

Early Deadline Set
Because of the Labor Day holiday Monday, TOWN TOPICS' deadline for display advertising in the next issue will be 5 p.m. Friday. Classified advertising must be changed or canceled by that time but new classified ads will be accepted until 5 p.m. Friday. New material should be submitted as early as possible.

Gun Fire Scatters Crowd.
People crowded into Wenceslas Square and filled the streets. Soldiers sprayed machine fire over their heads and the crowd scattered. But soon the people were back again, wrote Dr. Maxwell. Everywhere he observed signs of continuing loyalty to the Dubcek regime, such as banners and signs.

Meanwhile, the congress of geologists went on with its meetings. For about three days after the Russians first entered Prague, the meetings continued. Then on Friday, the gathering dispersed.

Dr. Maxwell and his colleagues bought tickets to the West German border and climbed aboard the train. They were on the train for a slow 12 hours, subsisting on chocolate, peaches and some worst and beer they had purchased on the train.

The border itself was still manned by the Czech guards, Dr. Maxwell reported, and they allowed the train through without delay or incident.
Dr. Maxwell concluded, "It was a vastly moving experience."

SOME LIKE IT HOT . . .
But Not Many. It was a shimmering, shimmering 93 degrees in Princeton Sunday afternoon.
Then the thermometer decided on a high dive, and by Monday evening the temperature had fallen to a cool 53-40 degrees in slightly more than 24 hours.

Watching from his air-conditioned study was the weatherman, Daniel A. Mazzarella of Science Associates. The recorded figures are from his backyard equipment on Magdolna Lane, where he lives, but it wasn't much different in other parts of Princeton.

Down in Trenton, the United States Weather Bureau peered out of its penthouse on the fifth floor of the Post Office building and measured 94 degrees on Saturday afternoon.

Hot? Well, Yes. Highs in Trenton for the summer were on July 1 and July 17-97 degrees both days.
There hasn't been anything

Repayment For THIS RAPE

A. N. SPANEL

FOUNDER-CHAIRMAN

International Latex Corporation

The free world, in shock and disgust, is watching press, radio and television reports on the brazen rape of Czechoslovakia by Soviet Russia and four of its puppet regimes.

This new crime revives the painful memories of the Kremlin's brutal assault on Hungary less than twelve years ago. Directly and through the United Nations that earlier crime was condemned by free men and their governments, including the United States.

But because the words were not accompanied by action, they were futile. They never touched the rapists. Freedom was murdered on the streets of Budapest, while the great democracies stood aside in hand-wringing sorrow. This was the red meat that gives the Soviets their lust for more today.

History has recorded in shame that the world of freedom gave no more than lip service to Hungary's freedom fighters. Yet even America's most violent pacifists would not have objected at that time to vigorous diplomatic intervention, backed by a credible threat of far-reaching economic sanctions. But nothing of the sort took place. Appeasement reigned supreme. Ironically, the puppet regime then imposed on Hungary has now played a vulture role in the invasion of another satellite state.

DIRE WARNING

The depredations against the Czechs and Slovaks is a prelude and a warning to the restive governments of Yugoslavia and Rumania today—and to the peoples of all satellites who are now dreaming of more freedom and national independence.

ARAB PLOTS AND RED LIES

The only immediate and gleeful approval of the Soviet outrage against Czechoslovakia came from the most violent elements in the Middle East, namely Nasser's Egypt, Syria and Iraq. This is significant and ominous. In Moscow's criminal conduct, in its brutal defiance of world opinion, these Arab states saw at once a happy portent for the destruction of Israel with the direct help of Red Russia.

It is surely not accidental that during the U.N. Council debate on the events in Czechoslovakia, Soviet Ambassador Malik, in his shameless attacks on "Western imperialism," repeatedly alluded to Israel. Already both in East Germany and Red Poland, the controlled press has attempted to blame so-called "Zionists" for the Czechoslovak trend toward freer institutions.

Will the United States and its democratic allies repeat the history of the Hungarian tragedy by giving no more than lip service to the victimized na- tion and peoples? If they do, Soviet Russia will again conclude, rightly, that appeasement still prevails—that there is a supine worldwide acceptance of communist violation of international law and fundamental human decency.

The Moscow oligarchs will see it as a green light for new and ever more daring adventures in aggression and pillage—in Europe, in Asia, in Latin America, and particularly in the Middle East against Israel.

DEADLIEST MYTH

Czechoslovakia today, like Hungary in 1956, provides final and total proof that our continuing attempts to appease the Kremlin with trade, aid and credit, with siren songs of détente and "bridges" of collaboration, are utterly misguided. They are based on a myth, the myth that Soviet communism has "mellowed." In truth the claws and teeth of the Kremlin are sharper than ever, its contempt for the world of freedom more cynical and complete than ever before.

Our passivity in this time of crisis will go far toward confirming the Soviet conviction that the free world is "decadent," lacking the will and the moral strength to resist accomplished facts of communist aggression.

IN SUM

In an editorial on the morning after the rape of Czechoslovakia, the New York Times called it "a brutal retrogression by the Kremlin to the suppressionist spirit that forced Hungary to heel in 1956." The following day it added: "The illegal and immoral conquest of Czechoslovakia by Moscow and its satellites provides a time of testing for many peoples, governments, individual leaders and international institutions."

Will the world of freedom lace up to the "testing"?

Unless the major democracies, and the United States as their leader, immediately invoke meaningful diplomatic and especially economic sanctions against this act of international banditry, Soviet communism will be hardened in its belief that it has a hunting license against any nation or region which it plots to dominate—and today that means the Near East in particular.

The most dangerous ingredient in world affairs today is a Soviet overestimate of its capacity to engage with impunity in direct and indirect aggressions. Recent history, in the light of the Soviet Union's latest outrage, cries out that the time for bold action is now—if we are to avoid a collision course to war.

BOY TO RECEIVE MEDAL
For heroism. An act of heroism at the New Jersey shore last summer has won for Michael D. DeMauro, a Junior at the Hun School, a bronze medal and $300 from the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission of Pittsburgh.

Young DeMauro saved five people from drowning in heavy surf off Harvey Cedars on July 1, 1967, with the assistance of his younger brother, Steve, on shore.

The five, a man and four children, were caught in a heavy undertow. Mike saw them, heard their shouts for help, and immediately took off his clothes and grabbed a buoy and a lifeline.

While Steve on shore held the line, Mike swam out with the line to the point where the five were, a distance of about 250 feet.

When all five were safely supported by the line, he signalled to his brother, his father and others on the beach, to pull the line in. Mike stayed with the five until they were safely on land.

Those rescued were Richard

McAllister of Staten Island, his three children and a young neighbor.

Herolms Brings Praise, Mrs. McAllister, who witnessed the rescue, wrote to the DeMauro family, commenting that Mike "obviously had not considered his own safety, but only that of the children."

Mike also has letters from Senator Harrison Williams, Governor Richard Hughes and Mayor Reynold Thomas of Harvey Cedars, praising his act.

Citing both DeMauro boys, Senator Williams wrote, "What they did required both courage and presence of mind. One without the other would not have been enough."

Governor Hughes wrote that young DeMauro's "quick thinking and selfless action reflect great credit not only on you but also on your parents who have obviously brought you up to think in terms of the safety and well-being of others."

A $500 scholarship in Mike's name was established last fall at Hun for a member of the sophomore class who shows qualities of courage, selflessness and service beyond the call of duty.

Mike, a Boy Scout who has a merit badge in lifesaving, received Princeton Troop 88's gold medal for heroism. Steve received the silver medal for heroism.

With his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Peter DeMauro of 630 Prospect Avenue Extension, Mike went back to the Jersey shore this summer and renewed acquaintance with the McAllister family.

BOAT ACCIDENT FATAL

To Stuart Duncan 34. A motorboat collision on an Adirondack lake in northern New York State Monday night took the life of 14-year old Stuart Duncan 34. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Duncan Jr. of 114 Elm Road.

John Coulter Duncan, his 12-year old brother, was injured in the accident but is not believed to be in serious condition. New York State Police said that the boys' boat was struck on the left front bow by another operated by Henry Fenn of Gainesville, Fla.

Mr. Fenn's boat reportedly struck Stuart on the back of his skull. He was pronounced dead at the scene at 10:45 p.m. Charges against the Florida man are pending, police said. Mr. Duncan was at his Elm Road home at the time and left immediately for the Adirondack resort on Upper St. Regis Lake near Brighton, N.Y. A resident of Princeton since 1951, he is advertising and sales director for Lea and Perrina, a condom manufacturer in Fairlawn, N.J. He is secretary of the corporation.

Long active in the theatre, Mr. Duncan has produced a number of off-Broadway shows. Both he and his wife, the former Nell Oliphant of Trenton, have appeared in presentations of the Community Players, the University Players and other dramatic groups here.

Funeral arrangements for Stuart, known to his friends as "Stu," were incomplete when TOWN TOPICS went to press.

TOWN TOPICS reaches every home and place of business served by the Princeton Post Office. By their own figures, no other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

Princeton to West Windsor. West Windsor will be warned once again by the Princeton Regional School Board that the board won't accept West Windsor high school students after 1970, and copies of the warning will be sent to state and country school officials.

At present, there are approximately 300 West Windsor pupils at Princeton—about 80 in each of the four classes. Principal Kenneth Michael told the board at its July-August meeting Tuesday night.

"Overcrowding is a serious problem at Princeton High and because of West Windsor—and Plainsboro, double sessions are that much closer," observed Harvey Rothberg, Princeton board member.

There are about 60 Plainsboro students, for a total of more than 400.

Dr. Rothberg said it was surprising and disappointing to read a recent newspaper story in which Bradford Craig, chairman of the West Windsor board, said his board would not hold a high school referendum until next spring.

High School History. Dr.
Rothberg reviewed Princeton's sentiments to West Windsor, going back to July, 1966, when the Princeton board announced it could not meet in 1970 in contract under which West Windsor sends its youngest to Princeton High.

At that time, Dr. Rothberg said, Mr. Craig stated that West Windsor could have a high school of its own, probably with Plainsboro, by 1970.
Six months ago, in March,
West Windsor told Princeton that a new high school probably couldn't be ready by 1970, but the Princeton board re-neated its warning.

At Tuesday night's meeting,
Dr. Rothberg estimated that West Windsor could probably have its new high school by 1971 "if they move now." But if the referendum isn't held until spring, the school might be put off until 1972, Dr. Roth-berg said.

Mr. Michael counted for the board the number of West Windsor pupils at the high school, but he declined further comment. He is a resident of West Windsor, and a member of the community's citizen committee planning the new high school.

From the audience, Mrs.
Benson Carlin and Mrs. Gordon Mack asked whether state officials can't prod West Win-dor into action. Superintendent Philip K. McPherson said that every effort will be made to include state people in future discussions with West Win-dor about its high school students and the contract with Princeton.
Mrs. Carlin said she thought

It's turned cool
For back to school.

At other times of year, a 40 degree drop in the tem-thing whiter than frost.

That's not the case in late August, but the thermomet-

Sunday to 53 the next day.

A slightly warmer trend

many West Windsor parents were shrugging off the Princeton warning by saying "they'll have to take our children," and not realizing that overcrowding at Princeton High was damaging to West Win-dor youngsters, too.

Title I Highlights. The Board approved a 10-part Title I program for the current year.
The money, $35,256, comes entirely from Federal funds set aside for the education of disadvantaged children.

This year's sum is about $10,000 less than last year's, but Dr. Rothberg and Dr. Mc-Pherson agreed that "higher administrative efficiency will mean a better program with less money."

Highlights: •$8,000 to support the summer project of the Princeton Study Center, designed to reach about 40 children next year with a program in "change negative attitudes toward school."

•$2,000 for teacher aides in the four-year old kindergarten.
Aides will be parents and high school students in the community, who will be trained and paid while they work with the children in the pre-kindergarten classes.

•$5,400 for Student Dialogue Groups. Six teachers will lead integrated groups of students who will meet once a week to "express their ideas and interact positively in a group situation."

•$300 for a Big Brother-Big Sister program. Girls from Rider College will act as Big Sisters to ten elementary school girls, taking them on trips, buying them sodas and so on. Last year, Princeton University students were Big Brothers to ten elementary school boys, and this program will continue.

•$300 for drop-out high school students who want to enroll in a high school equivalency program.

board that the Title I program

maple trees, but in Trenton they'll tell you it's been rather dry this year.

"July was below normal in says.

Just to give you an idea of frankish differences in weather —Princeton had furious 1.55 inches of thunder and rain last Thursday. In Kendall Park, the same storm swirled to 3.5 inches, which is almost knee-about three-tenths of an inch.

Incidentally, you might want was built with the aid and advice of a citizens group, representing Princeton people who might come under the Title I definition.

Conversations were also held with the Community Action group of the area's CEO, Dr. McPherson said.

Under a new "School Bulletin" policy, all "Bulletin" information that goes home with students must be neutral on political issues. A citizen had protested to the board because the P.T.O. position favoring dog control had been in an official school publication.

The board approved a salary guide for the custodial and secretarial staff. Maintenance men will start at $4,400 and rise to $5,700 in eight steps, with additional money for head custodians and mechanics. Clerk-typists will begin at $3,600 and rise to $5,600. Executive secretaries will have

THE GIFT OF BOOKS: More than 5,000 books have been shipped to schools around the country by the 20 boys who belong to "Interact," the Rotary-sponsored teen club in Princeton. (Left to right) Randy Greco, Mitchell Besser, Howard Glickman, Alan Schwartzstein (secretary of Princeton's Interact), Chris Green (president), Gary Wallace and Cary Samueldin. a $4,800 to $7,500 scale and secretaries, $3,900 to $6,100 scale, all in 11 steps.

No change in admission to kindergarten or first grade will be made this year, but teachers and psychologists will observe kindergartners for the first weeks and possibly recommend them for transfer to first grade. The entire policy will be under continuing study.

The board has in hand a final draft of the Educational Facilities Laboratory study of the John Witherspoon School, and has ended its commitments with the architectural firm of Ernest J. Kump, designer of the school.

BOYS AND BOOKS

They Interact. Twenty teens, all male and all Princeton-based, have spent the last few days packing more than 5,000 books for shipment to schools and libraries around the country where books are in short supply.

The boys belong to "Interact," the international teen boys club sponsored by Rotary. In Princeton, the youths attend Princeton High and the Hunt School, and one member is an American Field Service student who belonged to Interact in his native Paraguay, and has transferred to the Princeton group for the term of his visit here.

The books have been sent to the library of the Tuskegee Institute, to schools on Indian reservations, to schools for migrant children in Texas and Alabama and similar educational institutions.

Most of the volumes were donated by the Princeton Regional School system. The books are no longer used in Princeton's public schools, but they are new enough to be very valuable indeed to pupils and teachers anywhere.

The program was sparked by Jeff Diamond, a Hun student who lives in Lakewood, and his mother. A Hun truck took the boxes to the post office. Allied Vans and McGraw-Hill donated cartons. Postage was contributed by Senator Harrison Williams.

VOTE POSTPONED

On Trap Rock, in mid-November, when some of the dust has settled, a citizens committee will report to Franklin Township mayor and Council on the proposed "trap rock" ordinance amendment. Council plans to vote on the ordinance at its November 14 meeting.

The committee has not yet been fully appointed, according to Mayor Bruce Williams.

If it consists of two representatives of Kingston Trap Rock, two Councilmen, two residents of Kingston and one member of the Franklin Township Planning Board.

So far, only the two Council members have been named. They are J. Leonard Vliet, who proposed the citizens committee, and Lawrence Gerber.

Franklin Township's Council has introduced an amendment to the Township's zoning ordinance which would expand the industrial zone in such a way that Kingston Trap Rock could extend its operation by some acres.

Citizen protest, from residents of Kingston and neighbors of the trap rock operation, was expressed vehemently and vocally at a public meeting on August 15. Mr. Vliet suggested the citizens group at that time and Council voted last Thursday to establish the committee.

HEARING NEXT MONTH
On Montgomery's master plan, Montgomery residents will have their first look at the township's new master plan next month when the document will be explained at an informal hearing. All residents are urged to attend the session scheduled for 8 p.m., Monday, September 23, in the Orchard Road School.

Planning board chairman Edward P. Platz said that the master plan is available at the municipal building and copies may be purchased there. Three years in the making, the document will, if accepted, replace the first master plan in effect since 1960. A public hearing will be held at a later date.

POLITICIZING BEGINS

Candidates Make Statement.

We need to know how to set up an effective Human Rights Commission for a suburban community," said James A. Floyd, Democratic candidate for Township Committee this week, "and a good way to start is to consult the top man in the state."

Mr. Floyd and his running mate, Thomas B. Hartmann, conferred in Princeton last week with James H. Blair, newly appointed director of New Jersey's Civil Rights Commission.

Appointment of a "Civil Rights" Commission for Princeton is being urged by the two Democratic candidates.

Mr. Floyd and Mr. Hartmann believe that a Princeton Commission would have to be a joint Borough-Township endeavor in order to succeed. Such a Commission could hear grievances, investigate and then act on them, the candidates say.

"For example," suggests Mr. Floyd, "it could serve as

Devons on TV

Princeton's sprightly girl trio, the Devons, will sing this weekend on the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon.

The Telethon will be broadcast Sunday and Monday all day and all night on WNEV-TV, Channel 5. The Devons' spot is between 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. both nights.

The girls are Michael Hill and Johnny Hill, twins who live at 118 Leigh Avenue, and Louise Stephenson who lives at 72 Clay Street. The three girls have been singing together since they were students at Princeton High School.

a watchdog to see that governing bodies do not break state law by awarding contracts to firms that discriminate in hiring policies."

Solving real estate grievances locally before they reach the state Civil Rights Division, or helping the Board of Education to orient teachers, are other suggested duties for a commission.

"Informal ways of handling grievances are no longer adequate," Mr. Hartmann declares. "There are too many problems that are too complicated for the average mayor to handle effectively on a part-time basis."

The candidates suggest that Borough and Township, working together, could afford a paid director.

MINK CAPE STOLEN

From Palmer Square Shop. A mink cape valued at $700 and a $100 oval diamond ring were stolen Sunday night from the front display window of Midday Shop, 45 Palmer Square West. Two Borough patrol cars manned by patrolmen William Hunter, Arthur Jackson and Robert Mucicarella responded to several calls around 10:30 from residents reporting hearing the sound of breaking glass. Upon arriving, the officers discovered that a huge rock had shattered one of the sections of the window.

Chief Peter J. McCrohan reported that the thief, apparently on foot, was probably frightened off before he could take more. The store itself was not entered.

Police said that the owner, Carol Alice Harrison Harris, was on vacation at the time. Detective Charles Harris is continuing the investigation.

$200 portable TV set was stolen between 4 and 5 Thursday morning from a library room at Merwick, 79 Bayard Lane, a nursing home operated by Princeton Hospital. It was reported by Joseph O'Malley, former state police captain, who is the security officer at the hospital.

Police said the outside antenna wires to the set had been cut. There was no sign of any forced entry.

GYM FLOOR MARRED
AT PHS by Vandalism. Vandalism, who somehow entered the boys gym at Princeton High School during the weekend proceeded to deface its newly refinished floor. "They just raised the devil in the gym," commented Chief Peter J. McCrohan.

Once inside, the intruders partially dismantled a sanding and buffing machine and dragged it around the gym floor, marring the surface. Some wrestling mats were also pushed around, police said.

CAR CATCHES FIRE
Origin Is Suspicious. A 1966 sports car owned by John Provenzano of Harrison Street North mysteriously caught fire late Sunday night. Robert Friedman, 175 Laurel Road told Township police that he had driven the car to 23 Laurel Road around 10 Sunday night and parked it. About 90 minutes later, he said he noticed the car was on fire. Police, called to the scene, extinguished the blaze.

Police searched the area and reported they found two match books about 100 feet away. Later, the car was examined by Mercer County Fire Marshall John Dempster. As far as he could see, there was no faulty wiring.

Ptl. Mario Musso investigated for Township police.

Car Fouled Stripped. Earlier in the week, Bruce Hook of 861 Morris Road, told police while he was walking in the woods off Poor Farm Road, he came across a car that had been stripped. Township police said that the 1966 model owned by Norman Horn Jr. of New Brunswick, had had its seats, engine and tires removed. "There was just a shell left," they said.

Police estimated the value of the car at $1500. What was left was taken to a repair shop.

MINOR THEFTS CONTINUE
In Stanworth. "We have a regular sneak thief around Stanworth who is stealing little things," said Chief Peter J. McCrohan Tuesday at his press conference.

Borough police have been harrassed throughout the summer by a thief whose method of operation is almost always the same: a hole is torn in a rear screen to gain entry. Once inside, the thief takes small articles such as transistor radios, lighters, and a change purse.

Two Stanworth residents reported thefts on Monday. John G. Kelly, 56 N. Stanworth, listed a clock radio, umbrella, necktie and articles from the bathroom taken while he was away between 7 and 2 a.m. He estimated their value at $30. Mrs. Harold Saum, 42 N. Stanworth, reported that a transistor radio and a change purse containing a small amount of money had been taken from her apartment. As in the Kelly theft, a rear screen had been cut.

Earlier in the week, Miss Ruth Dew, 6 Stanworth Lane, reported seeing a prowler between 2:30 and 3 a.m. from her living room. A screen had been knocked from her kitchen window but police said there was no entry.

PRINCETON INCLUDED

In Police Network. Princeton Borough is one of 25 New Jersey cities in a new state-wide radio network designed to make communications easier in case of civil disorder.

A Federal grant of $181,814, to be matched by $50,850 in state funds for a total of $232,664, was approved on Tuesday, according to word from James Spady, executive director of SLEPA, the State Law Enforcement Planning Agency. It was SLEPA that worked out the state-wide plan.

The Borough did not ask specifically to be included, according to Administrator Robert F. Mooney. Mr. Spady says that any community can withdraw if it wishes.

The money will be used for 150 walkie-talkies and 20 portable base stations. It is not yet known how many walkie-talkies would be allocated to the Borough. Mr. Spady said, Maintenance and replacement will be paid for by the state; the municipality would not incur any expense.

With the new system in effect, the state will be covered by a tight network so that law enforcement officers can communicate with neighboring communities quickly if trouble arises. Princeton Borough was presumably chosen because it is near Trenton. Mr. Spady said the two cities are so close in their search to whatever mental labor is available, but Courtney Irving (left), 35 Clay Street, has done much more meaningful work as a member of Princeton University's "Summer '68" job program. Here, watched by Dan M.

Sawyer of Cranbury, his supervisor on the University's department of administrative systems and data processing, Irving prepares a tape for a computer run.

YOUTHS LEARN SKILLS

In University Program, Two Princeton youths and 14 students from the high schools of Trenton are participating this summer in an employment program sponsored by Princeton University, aimed to expose them to technical and administrative positions open at high school.
Courtney Irving, 35 Clay
Street, and Ronald McKewen, 161 John Street, are the two Princeton residents in "Summer '68," the result of drives in both Princeton and Trenton to urge local employers to hire local youths. The summer employees from Princeton were recruited after the John Witherspoon Association's "Job opfete" last spring.

The high school students have jobs in offices and laboratories in the Departments of Aerospace and Mechanical Sciences, Chemistry, Physics, Grounds and Buildings, the Computer Center, Library and Data Processing Office.

Job assignments, coordinated by University undergraduates C. Stephen Dawson, a junior from Burlington, and Jerome Davis, a sophomore from Fairbanks, Alaska, are outside mental-labor positions and unskilled service jobs.

Bruce H. Edwards, Assistant Director of Personnel Services at the University and overseer of the summer program said his office would provide contacts for permanent jobs after the youths finish high school.
Interest in the temporary jobs,
according to the coordinators, has been high.

Early next spring, the two undergraduates plan a canvas of university departments and offices, hoping to double the number of available summer jobs. They even look forward to the inclusion of girls in the employment program.

Mrs. Carroll was also senten-

Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Wade failed to appear in Township court through an apparent misunderstanding on the date. She is scheduled to appear at a later time, according to the clerk.

In a traffic violation, Craig
A. Kientz, 19, of Titusville-Mill Road, Pennington, was fined $20 and had his license suspended for 30 days for speeding.
Police said he has going 66 in a 45-mile an hour zone.

In Borough court Monday,
William P. Tukey, 14, 40 Terrence Road, was fined $15 for careless driving. A second charge of leaving the scene of an accident was dismissed by Magistrate Theodore T.
Tams Jr.

In criminal court, two charges of using offensive language against George Mc-Gowan Jr., 21, 246 John Street, were dismissed. They had been brought by Rhella Hoag-

Valuable Service Note.
To the Editor of Two Topics:
I wonder how many Mercer County residents are aware of the invaluable service which the Mercer County Action Council is extending in their county?

Neighborhood Youth Corp enrollees are learning valuable work habits, pride in job placement, respect for employers and fellow workers, motivation to strive towards higher vocational or academic goals, as well as learning the value of money. A majority of the participants are vital, interested and anxious to successfully meet the challenge of employment and receptive to counseling by their program counselors.

The CAC is to be commended for the very important contribution it has made this summer towards a healthy, happy and very meaningful work experience for many deserving young people of Mercer County.

Graduate Student Shows Art.
Robert A. Rorex, graduate student who is working toward his doctorate at Princeton, will show his water colors at Gallery 100, 100 Nassau Street, through September 7.
Although Mr. Rorex denies that his paintings are Chinese in style, he has experimented in them with Chinese media and has caught the spirit of Chinese landscape painting.

He uses Chinese ink, Chinese brushes, Chinese paper and has even had his paintings mounted, Chinese fashion, as scrolls.

Mr. Rorex has just returned from two years' residence in Taiwan, where he was studying Chinese language and culture as part of his work toward the doctorate. His graduate field is art history.

As an undergraduate, Mr.
Rorex majored in English literature and later he obtained

GIRL BUMPS HEAD

In Intersection Crash. A nine-year-old girl from Indiana killed a minor injury Friday morning when the car in which she was riding was involved in an accident at the intersection of Valley and Jefferson Roads.

Kim MacDonald of Munster,
Ind., was taken to Princeton Hospital with a swelling on her head. She was treated and released.

Township police said that a car driven by Mrs. Alma L.
MacDonald, 44, and a delivery truck for Craft Princeton Inc., Princeton - Hightstown Road, driven by Earl J. Rutherford, 50, of Trenton, had collided.

Pit. Anthony Gaylord investigated. There were no charges.

NO TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE

Until September 16, Township Committee, which normally meets the first and third Mondays of the month, will not meet next Monday because it's Labor Day.

The meeting has not been rescheduled. Committee will hold its only public meeting for the month on Monday, September 16, 8 p.m., Township Hall.

PHONE NUMBER CHANGED

For First Aid Squad. The emergency telephone number of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad has been changed to 924-3338.

The agency has announced that in a few weeks it will send new stickers for telephones in the Princeton area along with its annual fund drive solicitation. Meantime, it urges everyone to change the listing since dialing the old number will cause the loss of valuable time in an emergency.

The change was made after consultation with the phone company which pointed out that the old number was difficult to remember and dial.
It also contained digits that

The coaches voted the Sportsmanship Award to Keith Carter, reserve forward for the Panthers. Keith is a member of the PHS court squad.

Jets Fired Up. At the outset, the Jets were fired up. Led by their 6-4, 235-pound center, Fletcher McNeil, the Jets dominated play over the boards in which no quarter was asked or given. McNeil muscled in 17 of his 28 points in the first half, nearly all of them inside, as the Jets took a 38-35 lead at the intermission.

Other Sports on Pages 39-41

With about 10 minutes to go, the Jets had worked that lead to 10, 65-55, and seemed to have things going their way. Then the Jets, who had hustled throughout, began a slowdown, holding the ball a long time before shooting. It didn't work.

When the Jets shot now, there was no one under the boards hustling for the rebound as before. Unperceptibly the momentum they had built up slipped away.

It was grabbed by the bombers in dramatic fashion with four minutes remaining. After a basket, the Bombers stole the next three in-bound passes in a row for eight points in 25 seconds. Two hefts were engineered by McEwen, a solid clutch performer who scored 20 points of his 25 in the second half.

A three-point play by McEwen moments later tied the score. With one minute to go it was 82-81. Each team tried to hold the ball, playing for one shot.

Then Pete Alford of the Bombers drove and was fouled. He made both shots for an 84-82 margin. The Bombers managed to regain possession and when McEwen sank the first of a 1-and-1 situation with 24 seconds remaining it was all over for the Jets.

All five Bomber starters finished in double figures. Behind McEwen were John Cardwell who did a superb job in filling in for the absent high-scoring Len Carmichael, making 17 points. Gunnelli, 16; Pete Alford, 15; and Colin Leitch, 10. McNeil, 28 points, a d George Hopkins, 20, led the Jets.

Secluded yet accessible. ## WE'VE GOT TO CROW!

Peter Pan and Wendy and all the Lost Boys of Never-Never Land could all set up housekeeping in our newest listing. Cute as a doll house, it is deceptive as to space and surprisingly roomy. Center hall, pretty living room with fireplace, separate dining room opening to a large screened porch that overlooks an English garden. There is a huge master bedroom with adjoining bath, three other bedrooms and another full bath — but the piece de resistance is a family room set up to look and feel like an English pub.

All of this — plus a half acre lot, shrubbed and fenced for privacy, and within a clock's throw of the Littlebrook School. Offered at $49,500, and something to crow about!

— A complete selection of homes in all price ranges — in Princeton and nearby areas.

Our listings, as those of all New Jersey Real Estate Brokers, are subject to open housing.

If Princeton Colonials are your preference, we offer you the choice of two. One features 4 bedrooms, plus a study (or fifth bedroom) with spaciousness keynoting the living, dining and family room (with fireplace). Modern eat-in kitchen. 2-car garage. Central air conditioning. In a sought-after area on a 3/4 acre plot. The other Colonial is all brick. There are 5 bedrooms, plus recreation space in the family room, plus a den. A screened porch overlooks the tree surrounded brick terrace. Both houses priced in the sixties.

The seclusion by tall trees and landscaped shrubbery almost hide this 4-bedroom house from view. It's right in Princeton on a cul-de-sac quiet street. Raised brick hearth in the family room. 2-full baths. $38,500

One of Princeton Borough's most attractive, established areas is the setting for this 3-bedroom house. Add to this the comfort of central air conditioning. ## PENNINGTON

Wide tree-lined street in the middle of town—a very convenient location!

An offer in the low 30's may make you the owner of this exquisite lot and interesting house. The original house was a brick Cape Cod and it has been added on to in (let's be honest) curious ways. An indoor basketball court is one example.

However, there is room galore and with imagination and some dollars, there is no question that the property could be a showplace.

It does things other small cars shouldn't do.

Cornering at high speeds is one of the last things to expect small cars to do, successfully. Unless it's a SAAB, the out-of-the-ordinary small car. Out of the ordinary because it has front-wheel drive. So it doesn't push you around like other cars. It doesn't make round corners, curves and other drivers' mistakes. Is that all SAAB has to offer you, life. Most ordinary cars don't give you, even as options, all the standard SAAB safety features. As an optional extra, our new V-4 engine has a LIFETIME GUARANTEE.

You can drive it like a big car.

Question Of The Week

Question: What is your reaction to Russia's invasion of Czechoslovakia?

Where asked: Around town.

Richard Potter, Pittsburgh, employee, Bell Telephone Co.: I think it's unfortunate; I deplore it. I feel the only way we can do anything about it is to express our opinions through the United Nations, hopefully the correct way the candidates said we could do nothing. They didn't talk about the Czech people — they were concerned only about the loss of face of America in not being able to do anything. I think there will have to be a period of waiting before we attempt to deal with the communist countries now. We're caught between trying to get out of Vietnam and trying to get the Soviets out of Czechoslovakia. Johnson is trying to keep Vietnam free of communism yet he the Czech people are having it rammed down their throats. It brings to mind the Hungarian revolt when the American people did nothing to help.

Jack Robertelli, 34 Wilton Street, student, Notre Dame: Even though I felt it was expected, it still shocked me. I didn't believe Russia would change that much to allow the Czech liberation program to go on, not after the uproar in July. The meetings didn't resolve anything. I'm surprised they let it go as long as they did. Diplomatically, we have to do all that we can through the United Nations but any armed intervention on our part is impossible. That would bring about another Berlin or worse. It would be all over then.

Mrs. Peggy L. Bayer, Snowden Lane, ballroom dancing teacher: When they were debating, I definitely expected the Soviets to take over Czechoslovakia but I was fooled in so thinking it was settled. I feel everyone was. As a conservative, I feel this only reaffirms the conservative's long anti-communist crusade against Soviet satanic terror and world enslavement. I tremble when the conservative plea to stop immediately all aid and trade with communist nations and the countries which trade with them. Through this trade the Soviet Bloc has supplied 80 percent of the war materiel to North Vietnam that is killing our boys in Vietnam and prolonging the war.

James Neumann, Route 1, doing research for the American Council on Education at Princeton University: I'm really angry about it. I've had a kind of feeling of rage the last couple of years, a feeling in my stomach almost like the time Kennedy was shot. There is nothing this country can do except what it is doing in the Security Council, which is why I guess it is such an upsetting feeling. I suppose it will strengthen the hawks at the convention, although one could say, logically, if we hadn't been in Vietnam in the first place there would have been less chance of Russia acting in Czechoslovakia. That's what McCarthy and McGovern are causing a withdrawal. There is saying, "We don't have too much right to be indignant."

Miss Barbara Parrott, 20 Dickinson Street, librarian, Firestone Library: I'm not for Vietnam but I sort of wish we would get in there (Czechoslovakia). I think somebody should do something. Just saying we don't like it isn't going to help. But on the other hand if we intervened it would probably lead to World War III. I'm surprised I didn't think Russia would go that far. I have friends who have relatives there and even they were taken back by it.

Robert Wells, 417 C Deveraux Avenue, graduate student, history: It's a distressing turn of events. It had appeared as if Russia were easing its hold on Eastern European countries. Certainly, this will affect the lessening of any cold war tensions. I don't think there is anything this country can do about it. Not really. Sure, we could do something if we wanted to risk an all-out war, which is likely to happen if we did. Actually, I don't know if Czechoslovakia would want our intervention any more than she welcomed Russia's. After all, it is still a communist country.

Mrs. Elizabeth Boris, Deveraux Avenue, graduate student, political science, Rutgers University: I was shocked. As a political science student, I was "caught." I thought the whole thing was blowing over until I read it in the papers. I didn't think Russia would risk that much, because I didn't think she had much to lose by letting Czechoslovakia work out its own democratization. Now that it has happened, I don't think the U.S. can do anything.

Harry Mohr, Yardville, carpenter for Theological Seminary: The same thing happened in Hungary. The United States and the United Nations can't do anything about the outcome at all. Oh, they'll talk about it for a while but that will be it. I was sorry to see it happen. It came just when this country and Russia were trying to see eye to eye. It can only widen the gap between the two countries. Maybe this is Russia's answer to our being in Vietnam.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gidey, Glasgow, Scotland, housewife: Oh, it's bad. Really bad. Terrific. A sheer disaster. Things are happening so fast you can't tell what will happen next. I look how fast this happened. I think this country will help us as much as it can. We have always helped out in the past. As far as giving military aid. Yes, I think the U.S. would go as far as giving military aid to the Czech people. Everything is in a mess.

SALTY DISH: Debbie Reynolds is cast with James Garner in "How Sweet It Is," a comedy built around a cruise to Europe now showing at the Garden Theatre.

News Of The THEATRES

"EVERYMAN"
At Open Air Theatre. The medieval morality play, "The Summoning of Everyman" will be staged as "a psychodrama cocktail party" in the production to be given at Washington Crossing by the St. James Community Players of Bristol, Pa.

"Everyman" will be given at the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing State Park, New Jersey, this Friday and Saturday at 8:30.

Two members of the cast are employees of the United States Steel plant at Fairless. They are Charles L. Fitzgerald, who will play Everyman, and George Betts who will be Death.

Mr. Fitzgerald, played the father in "Medea" at the State Museum in Trenton, and appeared as a chorus man in Trenton's Theatre-in-the-Park production of "Music Man." He is a member of the U.S. Steel Chorus.

Mr. Betts has worked with both the St. James and Langhorne Players, appearing in "Barfod in the Park," "The Jewish Wife," "The Crucible" and "Comin' Through the Rye."

"The Summoning of Everyman" has been directed by Patricia M. du Me.

GARDEN
Now Sweet It Is! (now playing). Debbie Reynolds forges her cutie-pie wholesome image in this adult comedy and becomes a real swinger. She emerges as a salty little dish no more afraid to flaunt a bare chest before James Garner than to accept a role as the mother of a teenage son.

The zany plot begins in New York, takes a leisurely Atlantic Ocean cruise and ends up in Europe, offering along the way some witty moments about the generation gap. It is stocked with some amusingly blunt dialogue about teenyboppers and middle age hung ups. The cast also includes Paul Lyne as the nutty pursuer, Gino Corradi as a procurer for an Italian bordello, Donald Losby as the shy son, Alexander Hay as a voluptuous tour girl ("Are you sure you're only 16?" Garner asks), and Nancy Leigh as the sexy tour guide.

IT'S NEW To Us

VIKING SAILS AGAIN

With Georg Jensen. Viking Furniture is now hand-in-hand with Georg Jensen designers and it's a happy partnership indeed.

See what Poul Henningsen has done with lights, as a start. Twenty-inch stainless tubes, about as wide as a light bulb, have scooped out tops and bottoms. They match with other tubes that have scooped out middies. Arrange the two kinds of tubes side by side on a wall for a dramatic wall scene.

You don't see the actual bulb, all you see is the light shaped by the shape of the scoop.

But even more dramatic is the hanging lamp whose component circles are colored on the inner side. You move a shaft up or down to alter the angle of the circles and thereby achieve varying effects of light and transparency. "Contrast Pendant," is the name. Furniture from Jensen is by Hans J. Wagner, and you know his chairs already. The horn back for dining? The classic valet chair with oak frame and teak seat? The "Peacock chair," handsomest of all, with its fan back, ash frame, teak arms and cord seat? All presided and accounted for at Viking.

We love that Big Bear chair, the one upholstered in Scandinavian wood, and designed with cantilevered upholstered arms that look, from the side, just like a big bear giving you a hug.

You'll pay an unbelievably low price for Viking's Atræpel lounge chair. Its gleaming stainless frame supports the most comfortable upholstery you ever sighted back into, made of black "leather" so soft it's like a glove.

The ottoman has a gentle slope so you don't have to stick your tired legs right straight out. Divine. Notice the six black belts in back, supporting the cushion?

There's tremendous understated sophistication in Viking's small (two-cushion) sofa covered with bronze-brown suede. Rosewood slabs, flat and smooth, serve as sides and arms. A stainless steel rod underneath bares the three-inch black leather straps that support the seat cushion.

Bruno Mattson's chair, with its pale bent wood frame, has a padded and dimpled cushion in either orange or burpale, and the latter is most appropriate because the fibre looks like burpale.

The built-in tilt is just right for leisure, but to underscore his point, Mr. Mattson makes the chair as a chaise, also.

The big, big thing at Viking isn't even here yet, but it will be, so keep in touch. Clairtone, the hi-fi company, has made a sound globe 18 inches in diameter, with a projector inside and a transistor which translates sound into color.

Listen to Bach or rock, and the walls and ceiling of your room will pulsate with the colors of the music. Turn the volume "way down and you can almost identify the composition by the rhythm of the color.

Meanwhile, you can have fun with Sonuswitch: clap your hands two seconds apart, and your light will go on. Or off. Use it for TV, toasters or an electric toothbrush, if you can get your hands free.

Works with anything up to 750 watts, indoors or out. It's a little box, eight inches long. Plug it in.

Bongo Box

Bongo drums shaped like a box—a single, sleek mahogany box. Sold at Viking Furniture and try that mel-low tone.

The drum has been designed and crafted here in Princeton by Roger Maren. He has fashioned from Honduras mahogany a box about 15 inches long and six inches wide and high.

By making slits in the top, just so long and so placed, Mr. Maren has achieved a two-tone drum. You strike the wood with a pair of sticks wrapped at one end with felt. A small wad of hard rubber at the other end, allows you to rap the sides of the drum for still another kind of tone.

Considering the hand workmanship and the precision of design and the Honduras mahogany, the price is right: $29.95.

SHOP "THE YARD"

Two, in Pennsylvania. In the little shopping compound called "The Yard" near Lahaska, Pennsylvania, you'll find a pair of shops worthy of return visits.

"The Yard," if its owners will pardon us, is right at the corner where you turn off the highway to reach Peddler's Village. Shops in each center compete, of course, but there's room for all.

Our first stop is Gourmets' Bazaar in The Yard, a two-story tall shop with splendid

ing) brings back the all-American girl, Doris Day, in yet another variation of her theme, "Never to Bed Until Wed."

This time, actually, Miss Day is married and it's extracurricular activities that are threatening to besmirch her unsullied character. The story revolves around the Great northeast blackout of Nov. 9, 1965, with Miss Day arriving home unexpectedly to find her husband, Patrick O'Neal, occupied with another woman.

She flees to their summer home and is eventually found by O'Neal sleeping next to Robert Morse, although neither can explain how they ended up this way. Convincing O'Neal that they don't know each other and that nothing happened during the night is the major part of the film. Will virtue and honor triumph? Will Miss Day retain her honor in the end? For those who care, the film will indeed answer these weighty questions. For those who were beginning to think that Miss Day would never try anything else, see below.

PRINCE

With Six You Get Eggroll (now playing) marks a major change in the film career of Doris Day. The theme of "The Constant Virgin" has been thrown to the winds, in favor of one portraying Miss Day as a widow with three sons actively pursuing Brian Keith, a widower with a daughter. After a series of complications, many precipitated by the children, who do not like the match, they sneak away and get married in Las Vegas. The problems of trying to unite the children into one family occupy the rest of the film with a series of entertaining misadventures, some of which were carried a trifle too far.

The laughs are fairly frequent throughout, however, and the picture measures up as a suitable one for family entertainment.

baskets hanging 'way up there from the second-story railing, you crane your neck to look; chest-size baskets for storage or sitting; strap-fastened baskets like suitcases, waste-baskets two feet deep. And breadbaskets for little muffins.

On the main, brick floored level, you'll find a fascinating alcove containing cooking utensils, mostly from France, for people who really COOK. Quiche pans are here, in three sizes, and tiny broches (two and one-half inches across) for delicate little tarts.

Madeleine pans and ladyfinger pans are chaste and lovely just as they are, and the jelly molds are shining and ready for your best epic.

Sabbatier sends along French knives and Le Creuset that handsome ironware. Here's an English muffin breaker (automatic, it says!) and miniature biscuit cutters; steamers for fish, steamers for plum puddings and a coffee mill.

On the other side of the shop, you'll see enough copper to start a penny collection. The most regal item in the collection is a buffet "bain marie" for $89.95. Its two deep, lidded cylindrical containers nest in an oval copper tub whose water is kept hot by the burner underneath. It's a spectacular piece, and one you don't find in every shop.

Charles Ruegger has contributed most of the copper, including oval baking dishes in four sizes plus a couple that have handles.

A deep bowl-shaped saucepan has interesting possibilities, and the straight-sided ones can boil anything. A giant tea kettle holds 16 cups ready for the brew and the $45 stock pot holds ten quarts of your best copper bouillon.

Nested in front of the copper are some happy duck tureens in overproof were almost exactly like ironstone. Big daddy duck has a bright yellow bill contrasting with his white feathers and he looks even bigger than life size. Mamma duck and some ducklings make the tops of smaller tureens.

A shop like Gourmet's Bazaar also has a lot of food. You can begin with the jars of jellies and preserves, and then browns that big table in the middle with its assortment of Cadbury chocolate bars and almond roca. (See the collection of mortars and pestles on the wall.) The menu is formal mahogany in case you press garlic in the drawing room, glazed pottery and hand-printed carved wood. Canned snails (two dozen for $1.75), gulas in syrup, Norwegian flat bread, canned Icelandic brook trout . . . how about some of each?

We leave to the last the shop's pride and prize, a collection of Scotch Thistleware by Buchanan of Edinburgh. The soft, matte grey background has been quietly decorated with an olive green thistle design. The big tureen is for — Scotch broth! There are cruetes, good big pitchers, serving bowls and the usual collection of serving pieces, plus the plates and cups and saucers you'll want for place settings.

AND FROM INDIA . . .
Everything. "The Yard" is such a compact little center that you'll have no trouble at all finding, under a roofed arcade, the shop that sells nothing but goods from India. Sitar? Of course. And $75 cashmere shawls in creamy wool with an allover embroidery. In the most ladylike design, all garlands and roses. It's about one yard wide.

Jewelry is displayed on almost every shelf, and the range of design and material is wide. "Indian silver" has been used for many lacy bib necklaces, some of them inlaid with dark stones, others in the pale silvery metal only, perhaps with sottly symbolic little bells.

One necklace is open-ended, with bell tassels at each end.

You can use it for a belt, if you wish.
Most prices are $10 and $15. For example, a silver pendant with dark jewels is $10. The widest silver bibs are $15.
A one-inch wide bracelet, closely woven and set with tiny turquoise, is $12. Tiger eye or cat's eye teardrop earrings are $2 and $4, depending on size.
Gold, in the 24-karat variety, embellishes a superb silk sari in ultra violet. This is the most sumptuous fabric in the shop, but the wool and jute tote shopping bags, with their traditional stylized flower designs in bright colors, are so cheerful they almost compete.
Ivory inlay, in finely detailed and inviolated garland design, decorates several little Indian tables. One has a small checkerboard in the middle. A larger one has the Taj Mahal. A third has an allover design with a peacock in the center. Need a waterpiper? Three sizes.

What I Read on My Summer Vacation

"That damned Updike thing" is the way one Princeton book dealer characterizes "Couples," which most couples apparently took away with them on vacation. In fact, the three-store designation of "Airport" could just as well have been a four-way designation of "Couples" because it was a toss-up between the two books all the way around.

FICTION

"Airport," Arthur Dailey. Start it and finish it while you're circling Kennedy. (Princeton Book Mart; Male's Book Shop; University Store).

"Couples," John Updike. How erotic can you get? Mr. Updike has the answer. (Public Library).

NON-FICTION

"Soul on Ice," Eldridge Cleaver. Impassioned black anger. (Princeton Book Mart).

"The Naked Ape," Desmond Morris. Amusing zoological. (Public Library).

"Between Parent and Child," Haim Glinoff. How to set up a relatively workable dialogue. (Male's Book Shop).

"Herlia," James Michener. When Mr. Michener toured the peninsula... (University Store).

RECOMMENDED...

"Nicholas and Alexandra," Robert K. Massie. A moving account of the last czar's family life. (Princeton Book Mart).

"About Britain," Kenneth Harris. A nice self-explanatory author. (Public Library).

"Vanished," Fletcher Knebel. The C.I.A. in fiction. (Male's Book Shop).

"True Grit," Charles Portis. A spoof of western fiction. (University Store).

Our apologies, burrowers of the world, but at New Jersey Bell we're burying more and more phone cables.

These days mile after mile of new phone cable is going underground. There are good reasons why. The landscape will look cleaner. Neighborhoods will be neater.

Even more important, buried cable isn't bothered by wind, weather, or wayward automobiles—all of which can disrupt your telephone service.

Now, because of new materials and quick cable-laying techniques, putting cable underground is simpler than in past years.

Still, it costs money. So, to keep the cost of your telephone service low, at New Jersey Bell we're taking our cable underground step by step.

alumni from the Princeton area are also invited. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Pettie, 921-2157. Mrs. Thomas Cundiff heads arrangements for the meeting.

MRS. CALDWELL HONORED
For Service in Vietnam.
Mrs. Lucy Caldwell, widow of Charles W. Caldwell Jr., Princeton University football coach from 1915-56, has been named the second recipient of the Dickey Chapelle Award from the Marine Corps League for her service as a USO worker in Vietnam.

An article about Mrs. Caldwell's achievement, which appeared in the August 10 issue of the "Pacific Stars and Stripes" was sent to TOWN

TOPICS by Lt. Col. Donald A. Loos, who is currently serving in Vietnam. Col. Loos is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Loos of 8 Erdman Avenue.

As a dollar-a-year worker for the USO, Mrs. Caldwell has spent more than two years in Vietnam, mostly with the Marines. The award, presented in memory of Dickey Chapelle, a newswoman killed by a booby trap while on patrol with the Marines in November, 1953, is presented to the woman who in the opinion of the league has contributed most to the morale, welfare and well being of the Marines throughout the preceding year.

Mrs. Caldwell is the second woman to win the award. The first was actress-entertainer, Martha Raye.

To the combat-hardened Marines who met her at the USO or in field hospitals, this Princeton grandmother is known affectionately as "Lucy Baby." Her main base of operation is just outside Da Nang in the China Beach USO. There, working seven days a week, she provides warmth and cheer. Her nights are devoted to morale-building visits to the intensive care ward of the Da Nang field hospital, after which she writes letters to the worried parents of wounded Marines.

She continually wrote her friends in the United States, asking them to send comfort items to the Marines. For Christmas, 1967, Mrs. Caldwell received sufficient donations to enable her to deliver more than 75,000 gifts. As a result of her tireless service, "Lucy Baby" was an obvious choice for the Chapelle award for 1968. One of the Marines who knew her well and who was on hand for the presentation is Maj. Henry C. Stackpole. A silver star winner of the Vietnam war, Maj. Stackpole first met Mrs. Caldwell when he played football here for her late husband.

and other programs for all ages. The camp has had to move several times in its 12-year history.

Some 277 children from six to twelve years old participated in this summer's three two-week sessions, held on a site at the Princeton Racquet Club. Scholarships were given to 50 children. Mrs. Susan Smith directed a staff of 19 women, including water-front supervisor Miss Susan Mapes and Arts and Crafts head Mrs. Margaret Lawton.

The children cleared short paths to the campgrounds and lashed wood together for walls, chairs and other furniture at the site. The older children in the group experimented with archery and drama, and received nature instruction on overnight trips to Lebanon State Park, Hackleberry State Park and Lake Hopatcong.

$50 FOR LEUKEMIA
Children Give Fair, Leukemia research will benefit by $20 from a fair held Saturday by the Chestnut Street Children in the yard of 24 Chestnut Street, home of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Fenton Jr.

The Fenton children—John, Agnes and Anne—plus Elizabeth Coan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Coan who live across the street, and young Frankie Arcamone, bought up the idea for the fair. Two or three young friends of these children have died tragically of leukemia, and the idea of contributing to leukemia research was a natural.

The Fair was scheduled for noon to 4 p.m., but Saturday's heat dissipated everything by a quarter of three. Even so, the net take was a shade over $40, and some anonymous parent contributed the small change that made an even $50.

Besides fortune-telling in the Fenton's garage (the gypsy moved outdoors to have that picture taken) there was penny-pitching, a wheel of chance, an art exhibit and sale, a Koolaid and candy stand, and "Agnes' cafe," which strongly resembled the Fenton's terrace. Hotdogs were sold here.

The young entrepreneurs did everything: arranged the garage to look like a fortune-teller's booth, put everything back after the fair was over, made posters and asked Mrs. Coan if she would bake cookies. She did.

A former major in the Air Force, Mr. Adelson was assigned to the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps at Princeton from 1962 until 1967, serving as chairman of the last two years of his duty.

Mr. Adelson, 45, was formerly Director of Administration at the Defense Weapons Systems Management Center in Dayton, Ohio, a Defense Department School for system project management, where he was awarded the Air Force Commendation Medal for his work.

A 1949 graduate of American University, where he majored in administration, Mr. Adelson served in the Air Force for three years during World War II, receiving an Air Medal for work as a radio-operator gunner in Europe. Charles "Buck" Russo, Trenton, University campus policeman: Number one, I feel this was the worst piece of aggression Russia has ever pulled off. They've beaten down a small, defenseless nation. If we were ever to try the same, we would be ridiculed badly. Russia doesn't take any babies like we do. If they ever get the students that started the riots, they'll ship them to concentration camps in Siberia and let them rot. That's the kind of nation Russia is. It's their private war . . . their borders are so close. I say

For Seven Other Ives in '68, the Picture Looks Blue

Yale Expected to Retain League Title

(FOOTBALL OUTLOOK IV)
Last in a series of articles on Princeton's prospects for 1968.

The Ivy League pattern which with only a single exception or two for the past dozen years has seen five teams as possible title winners and three as also-rans is taking its familiar shape for 1968. The perennial contenders—Dartmouth and Princeton are the chief challengers to powerful Yale. Cornell and Harvard are outside threats. Brown, Columbia and Penn might upset one of the front-runners on a given day, but hardly have the spotlight talent or the depth needed to pick up all the marbles.

Off it's 7-0 Ivy record of 1967 and 28 returning lettermen, including quarterback Brian Dowling and fullback Calvin Hill, Yale is the logical pre-season favorite. The Elis have won their last eight in a row, and are at least at even bet to remain unbeaten right through October, a feat which would very likely make them the winning team in the nation.

With the possible exception of Cornell, which has lost six of its seven starters in the offensive line, the five strongest teams should have breakaway scoring ability. This is particularly true of the Elis, and to a great extent also of Princeton, which has virtually no rebuilding to do on offense.

Dartmouth, usually one of the top attacking teams in the nation under Bob Blackburn, has the potential to remain one of the Ivy League's best this season. The emphasis at both Cornell and Harvard is on the backfields, with lines to be rebuilt, but all five are expected to be able to score in a manner that will range from the impressive to the exciting.

SPORTS In Princeton

Of the lesser lights, Columbia and Penn have good passing quarterbacks. Brown, seventh a year ago, appears to have suffered too many losses to avoid falling into the basement.

The two non-Ivy foes on the Tigers' schedule, Rutgers and Colgate, should be about as strong as they were last year. In the case of the Scarlet, that may mean real trouble in the opener—it took a last-minute two-point conversion to bail Princeton out and this fall, Rutgers will have a major advantage in the form of a game scheduled with Lafayette before it plays in Palmer Stadium.

Here is a brief look at the Tigers' 1968 opponents, with last year's won lost records in parentheses.

Yale (8-1) should be as strong offensively as it was last year, when it never scored less than two touchdowns in a game and recorded such victories as 41-7 over Cornell, 29-7 over Princeton and 56-15 over Dartmouth. In addition to Dowling and Hill, the Elis have 26 other lettermen returning, the majority of those with experience on offense.

Their basic problem is the need to develop a defensive line, which was swept clean by graduation. Normally, however, a team good enough to win eight in a row, as the Blue did last year after dropping its opener to Holy Cross, has the depth to make good replacements the following season.

Any fans' hopes of defeating Yale this season must have the ability to win a high-scoring battle, one in which its defense shows a thin edge over the Elis, the only place they are likely to have an achilles heel. Of the other seven Ives, Dartmouth and Princeton appear to have the best shot at upending them. Inasmuch as both are November foes of the Blue, Coach Carmen Cozza's team is quite likely to run its unbeaten streak to 13 before it is in danger.

Dartmouth (7-2) has enough problems so that the Indians might normally be assigned a lower standing in the pre-season estimates, were it not for the fact the Coach Blackburn has such an outstanding record. The Indians are the winningest team among the Ives and, since 1960, have the sixth best percentage in the country. They are pegged at 718: Princeton, incidentally, is seventh with a won-loss of 7-50.

Minus Gene Ryzewicz and Captain Steve Laxford, the Green has considerable rebuilding to do on both platoons, but appears to have the material to fashion another strong contender. Bill Koenig, who alternated with Ryzewicz at quarterback last year, is back as junior halfback. Bob Minkar should be one of the best in the league at this position.

Like Princeton, which it entertains at Hanover on October 12, Dartmouth's third game is largely the key to early success of its 1968 season. The winner there may well go into the Bowl in November undefeated.

Cornell (6-2-1) has achieved under Coach Jack Musick its long-awaited renaissance in football. His record last fall was the best at Ithaca since 1950, and if he can repeat the job of personnel juggling he accomplished a year ago, the Red will be tough for all comers.

The big loss is on the offensive line, six of whose members graduated. But Bill Robertson, the quarterback who befuddled Princeton and broke some of Gary Wood's passing records, leads a group of 27 lettermen back to give Musick a firm foundation.

The Ithacans' strength is on defense, a Mack speciality, and that asset should provide the attack time to rebuild. This year, Cornell is Princeton's final opponent and should be very difficult to handle regardless of the outcome of the game will Yale a week earlier.

Harvard (6-3) loses more lettersmen (22) than any other team in the league, creates the longest reconstruction problem that Coach John Yovosin has had in his 11 years at Cambridge. The gaps are numerous on both sides of the line, with possibly the no. one job finding a replacement for quarterback Ric Zimmerman.

Gone, too, is the line end, Carter Lord, plus most of the interior line. Harvard's running backs are above average, particularly Captain Vic Ratto, a tawed-off speedster who has gained 1452 yards rushing in two seasons. The Crimson also may have come up with the top sophomore in the league, power-running Ric Szabo, who scored 56 points as a freshman and was sought by virtually every football-minded college in the country.

With better material a year ago, Harvard lost at Dartmouth, Princeton and Yale, while barely edging Cornell, 14-12. Ability to trim any of these opponents this year will rank as an upset.

Yale Picked to Repeat

Although no Ivy football team has ever defended its title successfully since the league became formal a dozen years ago, Yale has an excellent chance of achieving this feat in 1968. Princeton's hold-over strength is great enough so that the Tigers would be favored to win under normal circumstances, but the Elis may develop into one of the top teams in the nation.

TOWN TOPICS anticipates a close race among Yale, Princeton and Dartmouth, with eventual victory of the two chief challengers by no means ruled out. Cornell and Harvard round out the entries expected to battle for first division places.

The predicted order of finish:

1. Yale
2. Princeton
3. Dartmouth
4. Cornell
5. Harvard
6. Columbia
7. Penn
8. Brown

Three Key Losses Lost to Tigers for '68 Season

Summertime is normally a time of attrition for football squads, but the inevitable depletion of names has hit Princeton harder than had been anticipated. Three key players—all backs—will be missing from the list of those who will report this weekend for the start of pre-season practice at Easttown.

Two of the missing were members of the reserve backfield. Joe Hazen, a strong replacement for fullback Ellis Moore, is involved in sufficient off-campus research for his senior thesis that he has decided to forego the sport this fall. Dave Miller, another senior who was the number one in the second backfield, fractured his hip while skiing. Currently in traction, he appears lost for the year.

Doug Kenna's unanticipated decision not to play football in his final year adds to the major problems that already existed in the defensive second line during his senior year. Kenna will be difficult to replace along very quickly last.

fail to earn the starting cornerback position. A sure tackler and good pass defender, Kenna will be difficult to replace.

Joe Hazen

the Crimson accordingly facing a fall out of first division for the time in the better part of a decade.

The Have-Nots. With the exception of an Ivy title for Penn nine years ago and a first-place tie achieved by Columbia two years later, this pair and Brown are almost invariably the bottom three teams in the standings. It is, actually, as difficult a task to determine in what order they will finish as it is to name the win, place and show entries, but the fact remains that the Quaker, the Lion and the Bruin are the Ivy have-nots.

It could be, despite the problems encountered by a new coach, that Columbia's passing quarterback, senior Marty Domres, will be the key that will unlock the cellar gate for the Lions (2-7 a year ago). Leader in total offense for 1967 and good enough to complete better than half his attempts, he poses a threat which neither Penn nor Brown can match.

End Bill Wazewich (whose 12 recaptures for 214 yards in the Princeton game gave the Tigers his last year) is also back. Losses are light—11 lettersmen graduated, 22 will return. The only new coach in the league this year, 37-year old Frank Navarro, will necessarily be slow to move the Lions upward but they appear capable of outdistancing Penn and Brown for sixth place.

Bill Creeden, Penn's off-throwing quarterback, was considered good enough to get a tryout with the Los Angeles Rams, but he's no depth, Brown could lose them all if it falls in its opener against Rhode Island.

Rutgers (4-5) took another step this year in its understandable efforts to trim Princeton for the first time since 1961. Having returned to limited spring practice a year ago, the Scarlet has now booked Lafayette prior to its contest with the Tigers to give its players and coaches an afternoon of battle action.

Princetonian Bruce Van Ness, a standout runner and passer, will again quarterback Rutgers, with senior Bryant Mitchell providing line speed at halfback. Coach John Baistman's operations pushed over three touchdowns against Princeton last year, and he should have another good attacking unit. The Scarlet's fate will hinge on its ability to develop a defensive platoon, from Colgate (2-4), like Columbia, has a new coach, but will begin slowly, particularly since much rebuilding must be done on defense. However, Neil Wheeler, the new man on the job, is a defensive specialist who knows his personnel, since he served on the Red Raider staff for six years before succeeding Hal Lahar.

Rich Burton, a slick quarterback, returns for his senior year, while Al Sherman, a strong halfback, heads the group of promising ball carriers. Speed and experience will be the prime assets of the regulars on offense, but a need to rebuild the defense and an overall lack of depth may be season-long problems.

BOMBERS ONE UP
 Over Jets in Playoff. Unlike the Raiders which lost to the Jets last week, the Bombers had the size to cope with the Jets in winning the first game of the championship play-off series Sunday night in the Summer Basketball League, 108-81.

More importantly, the Bombers had speed. They simply ran away with the game.

It worked this way. Colin Leitch and 6-4 Gerry Gunnell were tought under the boards and setting the rebounds for the Bombers. They would flip the ball to the two fast guards Carmichael and Ed McEwen who repeatedly scored on the fast break. By halftime, the Bombers owned a 42-34 lead.

The second half was largely a carbon copy of the first, although a great deal of the motion consisted in walking to the foul line. Tiring in the hot and humid weather, the players on both sides began to foul. In all, 25 infractions were called against the Jets, 23 against the bombers. Each team attempted 33 free throws.

Carmichael and McEwen led the Bomber's attack with 22 and 20 points, Gunnell adding 14 more. The 108 points run up by the victors exceeded by one the previous team high in the league amassed by the Raiders. Bill Turner with 22 was high for the losers.

Raiders Ousted. In a playoff game to determine who would meet the Bombers for the championship the Jets last week defeated the Raiders, 73-65.

Here the superior size and strength of the Jets was a deciding factor. Another, was the

PHS Football Physicals Set
 Physical examinations for all candidates for the Princeton High School football team will be given Friday morning starting at 8:30 in the health office of Princeton High School.

No player will be allowed to begin practice until he has been examined by a doctor. PHS coach Dick Wood has emphasized.

subpar performance of the Raiders' Jerry Witherspoon. A deadly accurate outside shooter who had scored 31 points in the Raiders' previous game to lead them into the playoff with the Jets, Witherspoon did not score a point in the second half. His three points was well below his 19 per game average.

In the past the Raiders have shown when their shooters are on they are the master of the team in the league. They were cold in the first half against the Jets and they cooled the game. With about five minutes remaining in the contest, the Raiders did cut the margin to six points, but the Jets started to sit on the ball, drew fouls, and never let their lead lead below four.

Bill Turner, 16 points, Norm Starks, 15, and George Horn, 11, led the Jets. Diminutive 5-6 Reggie Swain, a member of the PHS varsity, played a fine floor game for the Jets and scored 11 points. He was 5-for-9 from the foul line in the second half.

Wille Hill, second high scorer in the league, was high for the Raiders with 19.

PLAYOFFS CONTINUE
 In Business Softball, Playoffs in the Business Softball League continued last week with ERC and RCA Labs A splitting their first two games for the championship of the western division. In the east, Columbian Carbon and Mc Gray-Hill also split.

In the first game ERC shut-out RCA 4-0 on the four-hit hurling of Mike DiAngelo. ERC scored three runs in the second on four singles by DiAngelo, Larry Lynch, Marly Zebrowski and Jim Steele. It added another tally in the fourth to complete the scoring.

Later in the week RCA bounced back and held ERC scoreless in a 3-0 triumph. Pitcher Max Hopkins limited the losers to just three hits. RCA pushed across three in the second and added to its margin from there.
